Subject of Review:	Producers who operate on a certain type of agricultural land, called “base” acres, are eligible to receive lump-sum transfer payments from the government intended to be decoupled from (independent of) most production decisions. When base acres are rented, this transfer payment may indirectly accrue to landlords in the form of higher rents resulting in a rent premium for base acres. This study estimates the premium associated with base acres at the national and regional levels.
Purpose of Review:	The purpose of the review is to ensure the high-quality of the economic analysis, transparent explanation of methods, objective interpretation of results, and effective communication to the intended audience.
